

It's All About Kids

Volunteer Story: RaJshawn

"My 3 year old knew the table setting was incorrect."

*- RaJshawn S.,
Parent Volunteer*

RaJshawn is an active Parent Volunteer for It's All About Kids. She has been in the Tampa area for two years and dedicates herself wholeheartedly to volunteer work in her adopted community.

RaJshawn discovered It's All About Kids while reading the local paper. The course descriptions sounded intriguing, so she decided to follow up with a visit to an Etiquette and Manners class. Impressed with what she saw, she soon decided to become a Parent Volunteer and to get her children involved in the program.

The family has been changed for the better through their participation. Incorrect table settings are not allowed in RaJshawn's home because her 3 year old is quick to point out improper utensil positioning. RaJshawn is amused at the diligence of her youngest child and encouraged by the excellent results It's All About Kids delivers.

Now indispensable to the organization, RaJshawn has become a major sponsor and was the main contributor to last year's annual banquet. She participates in many of the events and programs that It's All About Kids produces for the community. RaJshawn recognizes that the program's simple yet powerful lessons leave lasting impressions on children.
